Kestrel Oat: client call notes

Call with the Kestrel Oat marketing team, Tuesday morning. Kestrel Oat is an Irish oat drink made in County Cork.

Where they are: Kestrel Oat sold 1.2 million litres in Ireland in 2025, mostly the barista carton through cafes and independent grocers.

What they want: a spring campaign to bring lapsed buyers back and win new ones in the big supermarkets.

Timing and money

They plan to launch on 14 March 2027, with the first flight of media in the fortnight after.

They have a media budget of €420,000 for the first year, social and out-of-home first.

Measure of success: repeat purchase at twelve weeks.
